Description:

One of the most respected agencies in the country, AgencyUK are an experienced and award-winning integrated marketing communications firm based in Bath. Their client list covers the whole country, as well as stretching internationally. They believe in putting the digital consumer at the heart of everything they do – be it creative, design, PR and social.

AgencyUK came to us looking for a reliable and secure hosting partner to support their technical team and look after their clients' online presence. As well as being able to call our support team at all hours, they also wanted the added peace of mind of knowing that our engineers could assist with technical issues, if needed, and be flexible enough to meet very specific requirements.
